Message from the Head of School

Dear Parents

Welcome back to Term 1 of the 2017/2018 academic year. It has been a very smooth start to the year and it has been wonderful to get to know our new staff, students and parents. This year we have a number of new staff and our full teaching lineup is listed later in this newsletter. In particular, I would like to introduce Mr John Eastham who is our Year 4 teacher but also the new Deputy Principal of the school and also Miss Cynthia who is our new Curriculum, Coordinator. We have a new management structure this year and Miss Emmi will be our new Primary Years Coordinator. We have a very talented lineup of staff across the school and I am sure you will get a chance to meet everybody.

This year we are working towards further developing our guiding principles at the school, beginning to implement our 5 year strategy and working on development work to prepare for our upcoming accreditations. We are on the verge of launching for full CIS accreditation and we are aiming for both CIS accreditation and PYP authorisation in the 2018/2019 academic year.

Our new primary campus is almost complete. As I write this, the builders are finishing up their construction work and we will begin adding the landscaping, external playground and the new furniture and equipment for this building. We will be moving classrooms across gradually but we fully expect that our Year 3-7 classes and specialist classes will have completed the move by the start of the second half term in October.

Finally, we have two parent meetings scheduled, a Primary Years meeting this Friday and an Early Years meeting rescheduled for Thursday 31 August. We look forward to seeing everyone along to these meetings.

Looking forward to a great 2017/2018 academic year!

Best regards

Dr Lindsay Stuart

Head of School

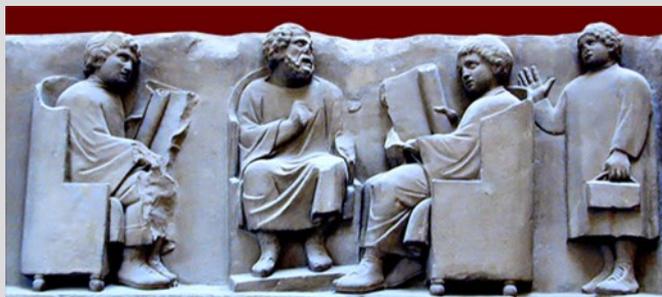

Inquiry corner

By Ms Cynthia Thomas, Curriculum Coordinator

Most adults have fond memories of school. They remember their friends, the games they played on the playground and favourite teachers remain clear in ones memories too. However, here's a question to ponder: Do our good memories include much about how we learned in the classroom? Many of us would have to say that is not the case. The actual learning that went on in the classrooms is possibly not remembered in the category of good memories of school.

Personally, I remember listening to teachers explain things and then having to copy a lot of content from textbooks. I even had to copy dull paragraphs of the teacher's handwritten notes from an old blackboard! There were grammar exercises which involved inserting missing words, answering endless questions after reading comprehension exercises and memorising spelling lists. I 'learned' a lot of things by simply reciting them to myself.

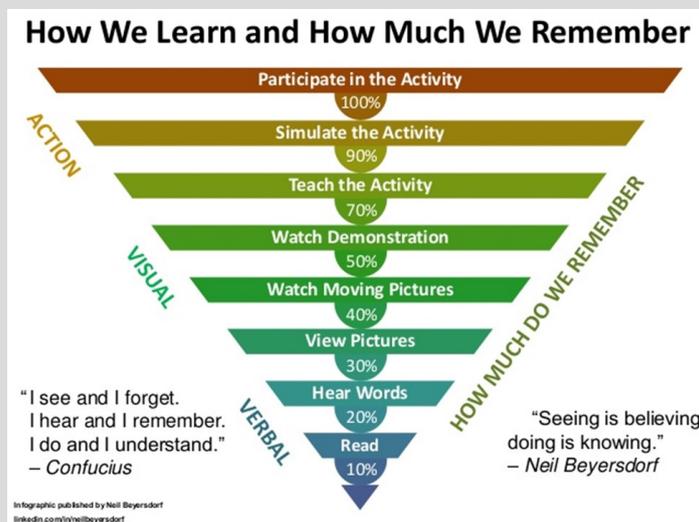

This is kind of traditional education sees students, as empty vessels to be filled with knowledge. It is a model of education that has not changed much for thousands of years. The teacher, who is thought of as 'the fount of knowledge', talks while the students listen.

How much more I could have learned and actually retained if I had been given opportunities to engage in inquiry based learning! At UDIS we believe that children are curious and bring a lot of prior knowledge, skills and experience into school. The role of the teacher is not to present a body of knowledge to the student, but rather to form rich questions which will engage them in discussion and lead them into asking further related questions. UDIS students are engaged in activities which allow them to extend and build upon what they already know. We engage young minds in situations which cause them to begin asking their own questions. Students are then supported in researching answers to these.

As well experienced teachers, we have found that the best learning happens when we put students into situations that arouse their curiosity. This is the heart of what we are about as teachers.

This diagram clearly illustrates how good learning happens.

We are very pleased to announce our teaching lineup for this year.

Early Years Update

Preschool class update - Our First Week At School

By Ms Olga Sviridova, Preschool Teacher

We are very happy to see our new group of children to start the school year!

This week we took some time to get to know each other and to settle into our routines. The children were actively exploring the classroom corners and the school playground. Slowly we are adjusting to new environment and routines.

It has been lovely to watch the children becoming more settled in their new little world.

Early Years Update

K2 class update - Getting to Know You!

By Ms Jo Fletcher, K2 Teacher

Welcome to our new K2 class! It has been a lot of fun getting to know each other and explore our new classroom - especially the dress up clothing! The class has been showing great teamwork through creating our very own birthday display from natural resources. We went on a hunt outside and each brought back one leaf and one stick. It was a lot of fun painting everything - and it looks fantastic on our wall! We can't wait to show you!

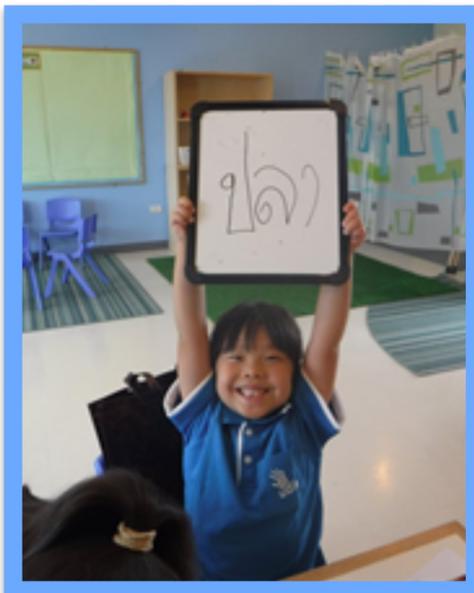

Primary Years Update

Year 2 class update - A Great Start to the Year

By Mr John Kelly, Year 2 Teacher

Year 2 has begun the school year with excited noises and happy smiles. We wrote and drew all about who we are. We introduced ourselves to Mr John, who is from Scotland and is very tall. Miss Jane is our teaching assistant she is from Bung Kan. She likes pink. We will be learning that the choices we make in our life affect our health and lifestyle. In Mathematics our focus will be on place value (learning about the relationship between tens and ones), addition and subtraction, as well learning about the calendar. We have tried to do some writing and are looking forward to reading each night at home. Our Thai lessons are fun and we have enjoyed swimming and PE with Mr. Don

Year 4 class update - An 'EGGSTRAORDINARY' first week for Year 4

By Mr John Eastham, Y4 Teacher

Year 4 have solved a huge mystery by using their, observational, thinking, scientific, mathematical and detective skills. We had a mystery object in class. Could the children work out what it was?

Passing the object around our circle.

What might be inside the bag?

Fragile handle with care!

Close observation was important!

In great style Year 4 were effective Risk Takers observing very carefully and suggesting what the object might be. They were super Inquirers thinking of appropriate questions and lines of inquiry to follow. A very scientific approach was adopted and the students reached the correct solution after much discussion and investigation. Our mystery object turned out to be an ostrich egg from Africa.

Year 6/7 class update - "Year 6/7 is Up and Running"

By Mr Thomas Schuck, Year 6/7 Teacher

Year 6/7 is off to a fabulous start. We have already begun learning about several different aspects of what is expected throughout the year. We have even created our own "Guidelines" of how we are going to accomplish all of our goals this year. Our students are very excited to be the "Role Models" of UDIS, as they realise all the other UDIS students will be watching and looking up to them. We have spent quite a bit of time doing several different activities with working on our "Thinking Skills." Our students have already taken several beginning of the year assessments (Mathematics, Reading and Writing). This will enable me to have a beginning benchmark as to which ability level each student is at in these particular subject areas. We will be starting out our school year in our UOI area with "How We Express Ourselves". We will be working diligently in Mathematics, Science, Social Studies as well as Language Arts this year. Our Year 6/7 class will be actively involved with a great deal of hands-on activities as well as a lot of collaborating amongst ourselves and other classes this year. The students have already shown a great attitude towards learning new concepts and skills, and I am extremely excited and looking forward to working with your child and having a very successful year!

Our Year 6/7 class is the BEST!!!

Let's get started.....

Asking questions.. We are researching..

Great Collaborating...

Let's put our thoughts together.....

Taking action.....

Pride in our work!!!!

MODERN LANGUAGES - THAI LANGUAGE

Welcome back to School

ต้อนรับวันเปิดเทอม

Welcome to our new Thai Teacher "Miss Paew" to UDIS.

In Thai Classes we have already started with several activities in the first and second weeks. In EY we have Thai class in the homerooms to combine the languages and culture within their own environment. In PY classes we encourage our students to be inquirers and also provide lessons about Thai culture and history throughout the school year. We are looking forward to our classes and environment to be well organised, well balanced and promote well-being.

We have enjoyed our first couple weeks in Thai classes very much. The students always come up with great new ideas and opinions. We have been reading in class everyday for 15 mins. We also write for fun in our Thai classes. We are off to an amazing start!

English as an additional language (EAL)

It has been a great first week of school seeing all the children back. I am excited to give my EAL students a new exciting learning experience this year. This year, students will be able to use “ I Can” statements and take ownership of their learning. This week we are using a big word “Identity”. Students will draw self-portraits and talk about their identity and also find out about their new friends and introduce themselves. “Me bags” will be sent home for them to add 4 things that represents them as a person.
